

4.

a) Scaled Euclidean would be a good measure because you're trying to measure the distance between the trained users' preferences to the preference of the user that is getting recommended a movie.

b) Because scaled Euclidean is weighted, the 0 in the matrix will be less influential than ones that are rated.